Darlytics Realtors has been in business Since 1901, which means it's a 122-year-old business. They have more properties along the New York, New Hampshire and Massachusetts border regions. The most expensive property is located in Connecticut while Massachusetts has least expensive property.

We created a range for House size and lot size and discovered that House Size within the 10,000 to 15,000 range had the highest Average price while those with size less than 500 had the least Average price, on the other hand the average price of the properties with 100 - 1,000 acre lot had a higher average price while those with the last average price were properties above 10,000 acre lot.

Darlytics Realtors experienced peak total price in 2021 and Massachusetts had the highest total price from inception to date.

The line chart was made by dropping some year because off the huge gaps between, dates after 1952 were dropped for the line chart alone. Puerto Rico and the Virgin Island are an issue to the maps even after assigning country status through power query (Darlytics properties on both Island are less than 5% of the data).
